Diamond Spectacles.

TRADE MARK

THESE SPECTACLES are manufactured from "MINUTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together, and are called Diamond on account of their hardness and brilliancy. It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazilian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarizing light. Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to admit fifteen per cent. less heated rays than any other pebble. They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic aberrations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.

Manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company, New York. For sale by responsible agents in every city in the Union. H. A. HEATH & CO., Jewelers and Opticians, are sole Agents for Newport, R. I.,—from whom they can only be obtained. No peddlers employed. Do not buy any unless you see the trade mark ap

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1873.

AUTUMN.

[From Blackwood's Magazine.]

Oh, tender golden gleam of an autumn day,
With the soft rain raining as if in play;
And a tender touch upon everything,
As if autumn remembered the days of spring.

In the listening woods there is not a breath
To shake the gold to the sward beneath;
And a glow of sunshine upon them lies,
Though the sun is hid in the shadowed skies.

The cock's clear crow from the farm yard comes,
The muffled bell from the belfry booms,
And faint and fine, and from far away,
Come the voices of children in happy play.

O'er the mountains the white rain draws its veil,
And the black rooks, cawing, across them sail,
While nearer the swooping swallows skim
O'er the steel-gray river's fretted brim.

No sorrow is in the landscape weaves,
No grief for the vanished summer days,
But a sense of peaceful and calm repose
Like that which age in its autumn knows.

The studying longings are past and gone,
The passions of summer no longer are known,
The harvest is gathered, and autumn stands
Serenely thoughtful with folded hands.

Over all is thrown a memorial hue,
A glory ideal the real ne'er knew;
For memory sifts from the past its pain,
And suffers its beauty alone to remain.

With half a smile and with half a sigh
It ponders the past that has hurried by;
Sees it, and feels it, and loves it all,
Content it has vanished beyond recall.

O glorious autumn, thus serene,
Thus loving and loving all that has been!
Thus calm and contented let me be
When the autumn of age shall come to me.

Torpedo Firing Practice.

On the 13th ultimo an interesting series of experiments with torpedoes was made at Newport for the instruction of the officers of the Monongahela. After completing the experiments from the vessel and with the towing torpedo, a spar torpedo was exploded from the ship going at the rate of six knots against a hulk anchored off Brenton's reef. The following is an extract from the official report:

While running out again to the hulk, the towing of the spar in the water was observed, and its tendency to rise to the surface, when going 6 knots was very evident, even with the spar braced 4 points on the bow. An extra weight of one 11-inch stand of grape did not entirely overcome this tendency. This is in some measure due to the lead of the forward guy which led up to the bowsprit end. More experiments are needed in order to overcome this difficulty, and I shall make my next experiment with the forward guy led through the hawse-hole.

Practice was made with the spar in topping it out of water and letting it go "by the run," and I have recommended to the captain to carry his spar topped up out of water a short time before using the torpedo.

All necessary trials having been made for the purpose of exhibiting the towing of the spar, the vessel was headed for the hulk. The hulk being at anchor head to wind, it was impossible to pass ahead of her without fouling her hawser. To have passed directly across her stern would have placed the Monongahela to leeward, where she would have received a large quantity of the water and the debris which would have been created by the explosion of the torpedo. Accordingly a course was shaped to make the contact under her starboard quarter. All hands were ordered under cover and the vessel was carefully coursed to the desired position, when the torpedo was exploded.

The effort had been made to have an immersion of the torpedo of 10 feet, but from the appearance of the topping lift, the immersion could not have been more than seven feet. The hulk was drawing 6 feet aft; there was then about one foot of water cushion between the torpedo and the bottom of the hulk. The effect of the explosion was to cut the hulk in two vertically above the point of the explosion. The whole stern was lifted out of water, a portion falling forward on her deck, the stern frame falling into the water. The sea was rough, and its action aiding the shock received by the rest of the hull, induced an instant disintegration of the whole fabric, which fell off frame by frame, until the whole was a mass of shapeless wreck drifting wildly on the water.

The stern and breast hooks sank with the end of the hawser. The kedge being buoyed, was recovered with all the hawser, except 15 fathoms, which was the depth of water in which the wreck sank. The effect of the explosion as respects the Monongahela was to wet her deck fore and aft and to throw on board two large pieces of timber and a large quantity of small pieces of wood. One piece of timber held five large spikes about one foot long; this piece landed on the forecastle. No large body of water was thrown up. It was evident that the line of least resistance was directly through the bottom of the hulk. Had any portion of the hulk remained awash it had been designed to ram it with a loaded Harvey torpedo, but the want of a target prevented this part of the programme from being carried out.—Army and Navy Journal.

Women in Council.

The woman-suffrage agitation seems to have well nigh exhausted public interest, and spent its own force. It is dying for want of brains and breath. The stock arguments have been repeated until everybody has learned them by heart; and the advocates of the movement, having nothing new to say, say nothing as well as they know how, to the weariness and dismay of the few people who gather to hear them. The meetings of the Association held here and in Brooklyn this week were tedious and rather dismal, and showed plainly enough that the once crackling flame had burned out most of its fuel, leaving little but a heap of ashes and a few smoking brands to tell that it had been. But it has made a hot hearth, and has warmed hundreds of hearts to a glow of enthusiasm for humanity that else they would have known nothing of.

This agitation for the ballot has more than paid for itself fifty times over by its influence on the country in opening new industries to women, removing legal and social disabilities, interesting women in objects beyond themselves and the fashions of the day, of a public and philanthropic nature, increasing their educational privileges, and training them to take an active part in the social, moral, and humanitary work of the world. It has prepared the women of the country to consider some of the more important questions that press upon modern society for solution, and to bring their intelligence and intuitions to bear directly for the removal of the evils that weigh most heavily upon themselves. The emancipation of woman must come from within and not from without. She must be her own liberator.—[N. Y. Graphic.

Some remarkable phenomena have been observed within the last few days upon the Great East-Western Railway. As many as two trains have started punctual to their time, and three have not been more than fifteen minutes late in their arrival at the terminus. Moreover in no fewer than five distinct occasions there has been room enough provided for all the first-class passengers; and, what perhaps is still more wonderful, a porter and a guard have both declined with thanks the offer of a gratuity, on the ground that it transgressed the regulations of the company.

It has been computed by an eminent statistician that the newspaper reports of the pending monster trial would, if they were set up in a single column, reach in a straight line from the summit of St. Paul's to within a hundred miles and seven furlongs of the moon.

Among forthcoming works of interest an "Essay on the Art of Snubbing Deputations" may, we hear, be shortly looked for at the hand of the home secretary. Moreover it is whispered that the premier is devoting some spare hours (when he can find them) to the discussion, in a pamphlet, of the merits of the question, "Shall Hodge have a Vote?"

Mr. Francis E. Abbott protests against the President's Thanksgiving proclamation. He will not allow that functionary to stuff turkey and plum pudding down his children's throats. Abbot's friends will please take notice, and not insult him with an invitation to a Thanksgiving dinner.

A Western editor, who probably maintains a large hen-roost for commercial purposes, avers that, to all animals, eggs are the best stimulants for failing strength. He adduces the case of a dying colt that was almost instantly revived by having two fresh eggs administered to it. Perhaps those eggs were taken from a mare's nest.

"Pray, sir, of what profession are you?" asked Mr. Edwin James of a witness who had come prepared to prove a fact and who was deemed not very respectable.

"Sir, I am a shoemaker and a wine merchant."

"A what sir?" said the leading counsel.

"A wine merchant and shoemaker."

"Then," said Mr. James, "I may describe you as a sherry cobbler!"

A Toledo paper was enterprising enough to record the number of kisses given at the recent gathering of military chieftains there. Gen. Sherman, it seems, kissed the most babies, 34 in all, and Gen. Grant stood second in the list. Gen. Custer kissed the larger number of little girls and ladies, 48 of the former and 67 of the latter, but was not partial to the babies. Gen. Sheridan was second on the ladies' list, while Gens. Grant and Sherman were far down on the list.

Women are strange beings. Men never find out what is in them until some terrible pinch comes. A Boston man was fined for brutally beating his wife while drunk, and committed until the fine was paid. When the court was over, his wife said: "Well, I can sell my bed for enough to pay John's fine, and get him out." It takes a woman to do that.

The advertisement of a Pennsylvania railroad in December, 1832, reads: "The engine with a train of cars, will be run daily, commencing this day, when the weather is fair. When the weather is not fair the horses will draw the cars. Passengers are requested to be punctual at the hours of starting."

A shrewd old Yankee said he didn't believe there was any downright cure for laziness in a man; "but," he added, "I've known a second wife to hurry it some."

Newport Daily News.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER, 28, 1873.

Families or individuals leaving Newport for their winter homes can have the NEWPORT JOURNAL mailed to their address until they come again next season. The paper is published every Thursday, from the NEWS office and contains all the local and general news of the week. Price $2.00 per year, or proportionately for less time.

The managers of the Cambria Iron Works at Johnstown, Pa., eighty five miles east of Pittsburg, have given notice to their thousand of employes that they are unable to raise money to meet their monthly payments. They therefore give notice that all who have claims against them shall be paid as soon as the money can be raised, and, that while the company will guarantee to employes all necessary supplies to the extent of their earnings, no regular cash payment need be expected until cash can be obtained for the products of the works. Those who are not satisfied to continue to work under this arrangement, the company say, can give due notice thereof, when they shall be paid off in full, which will be as soon as funds can be secured for the purpose.

On Saturday afternoon work was shut down in the Newburg Steam Mills, a cotton manufacturing establishment, owned by Garner & Co., of New York, and giving employment to between 400 and 500 hands. The order was telegraphed by the proprietors to the agent to stop work for an indefinite period.

Saturday night the Harmony Cotton Mills, at Cohoes, the largest establishment of its kind in the world, closed indefinitely.

The actual loss inflicted by the panic is difficult for persons not directly affected to realize. Harper's Weekly gives a table showing the shrinkage on the nine principal stocks. The loss on these nine amounts to nearly eighty-two million dollars. Including all other stocks known to the brokers, some of which were not known out of Wall street, the Weekly estimates the total loss to amount to $400,000,000. Some of this will return as prices rise. Much of it will come back in the course of time, long time, but as things stand now, the panic has destroyed about twice as much property as the great Chicago fire did. The victims of the panic do not receive the sympathy or aid that the victims of the fire did because they are, in general, persons well able to bear their losses, and also because the people look on the profits of Wall street as illicit gains and on the losses of Wall street as something akin to a Providential dispensation. But unfortunately the disastrous effects of the panic are not, can not be, confined to Wall and Broad streets, and the value of all the stocks in the country can not be affected without affecting the value of some more substantial property. Almost every branch of trade is in a very depressed condition. Iron and coal masters, paper makers, manufacturers of woollen and cotton goods, dry goods merchants and grocers, transportation companies, all complain that business is at a stand still. The transportation of iron and coal for a month past has been hardly half what it was during the corresponding weeks of last year. Every body clings to his greenbacks and is afraid to buy. The mill proprietors all over the country, unable to sell, are beginning to run on half time, or close altogether. All this is happening at a time when the season alone is sufficient to stop some branches of business and throw thousands of men out of employment. Between the panic and the Winter we have reasons to fear a season of great hardship to mechanics and manufactory employes of all kinds.

"BREAD AND BUTTER AND TEA."

A singular scene is said to have occurred in the Calvary Episcopal church, Chicago, last Sunday. The Rev. J. P. Walker, the pastor, says the account, was observed by the congregation to be in ill health, and to conduct the service in a particularly feeble manner. Finally, when he came to the sermon, he broke completely down, and, to the amazement of the congregation, and not a little to their chagrin, announced that all that he had to eat and drink during that and the previous day had been bread and butter and tea, and that when he should go home after service was over he would not feel certain of finding even that much. The sensation produced, says the account, is indescribable. Many of the congregation got up and went away, smarting under the rebuke which Mr. Walker's confession of starvation administered to them, and those who remained poured forth enough invitations to last Mr. Walker every Sunday in the year could he have accepted them consecutively.

We know not how long Mr. Walker has been subsisting on such scanty fare. But what should be thought of a congregation so neglectful of their pastor's support?

It is very rarely that such an incident is thus brought so prominently before the public. Yet how very many earnest and faithful ministers are suffering in silence and bearing the heavy cross of cruel penury. In addition to this, ofttimes ministering to an ungrateful and fault-finding people.

Many persons there are, if obliged to curtail their expenses commence first to cancel their church support; and we are sorry to say they are professing Christians. If any bills remain unpaid for a few months, the pew rent, or their quarterly subscription are first of that number. The salaries of clergymen are meagre enough and beggarly enough at the best; the little therefore that they receive should be promptly paid; and those who have in charge the financial affairs of the church should feel it their duty to attend to the matter. And those who willfully keep back their small pittance and cause an earnest, faithful man to endure the pinchings of hunger and want, have very little of the spirit of Christianity in their hearts.

Congregations should interest themselves more in the welfare of those who are appointed to minister to them in sacred things. "Bear ye one anothers burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." Let each one who reads this, ask himself the question, Am I doing my duty in this matter?

The robbery of the Jackson county (Iowa) treasury still continues to create much excitement in that county. The conviction is gaining ground that there has been no robbery at all but that a deficit existed in the treasury, and the pretended robbery was calculated to cover it up. The board of supervisors has been in session at Dubuque during the past week but has taken no definite action, and no arrests have been made. The Treasurer has hitherto borne a good reputation.

Official returns are received from all but one county in Ohio and they ensure the election of all candidates on the Republican State ticket except the governor.

It is generally admitted that there will be no contest of importance for the Speakership, Clerk and Doorkeeper of the next House of Representatives, and that Messrs Blaine, McPherson and Buxton will be re-elected. King, Postmaster of the House, will not be a candidate for re-election. Legrand W. Perce, of Mississippi, is the most prominent candidate. The reporters' gallery of the Senate has been reconstructed, the arrangement adding much to the comfort and privacy of those who occupy it. About a dozen members of Congress are now here. Some of them have been at the Treasury obtaining financial information with a view to legislation on the subject of the currency during the coming session. There is no doubt that numerous schemes will be proposed, including one for the conversion of currency into bonds bearing an annual interest of $3,65.

The Treasury Department has been much encouraged during the past week by the receipts from customs and internal revenue, there being an improvement in both from the week previous. They have not fallen off from the estimates as much as it was expected they would from the effects of the panic. The receipts of the year will be sufficient for all public purposes, provided that Congress will not, as heretofore, appropriate money largely in excess of the estimates. The Department estimates for the fiscal year of 1874 are $11,339,388 less than was appropriated by Congress, and $18,080,000 more than the estimates for the preceeding year. The estimates for all the departments and bureaus, with the exception of the public printer, are now in possession of the Treasury Department. They will aggregate about the same as last year—$161,000,000 irrespective of the permanent appropriation of $147,306,943—not now to be acted on for the payment of interest on the public debt.

Hawkins, who had two polygamist wives and was prosecuted by the first wife for adultery, in the district court of Utah, and convicted and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, obtained his liberty on Saturday by judgement of the supreme court based on Englehardt's decision that the United States Marshal cannot serve venire in causes under the statutes of the Territory.

It has lately become the fashion to ridicule the smallness of the state of Rhode Island, without the slightest regard to the feelings of the Rhode Islanders. This is mean and ungenerous. The people of Rhode Island are not to blame because their state happens to be small. No one who has seen a Rhode Islander, with bent back and contracted knees, doubts that the unfortunate man bitterly regrets that he has been compelled to sleep in a cramped and unwholesome position in order to keep his head and feet from intruding upon the neighboring states. It is unkind to taunt him with his misfortune, and there is really no wit in the exaggerated and grossly improbable statements which would-be humorists continually make concerning the difficulties to which the pent up Rhode Island person is exposed.—[*N. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The storm is not yet over, says old Prob.

—The Bristol Odd Fellows have sent $100 to the sufferers at Memphis.

—Assistant Surgeon William A. Corwin has been detached from the receiving ship Ohio and ordered to the Torpedo Station.

—Aquidneck Engine Co. No. 3 are meeting with fair success in their efforts to raise money to get a new uniform.

—Money is tight, as least so say many of those whom our merchants have asked recently to settle long standing accounts.

—In response to the description of the man found dead on the beach which was sent to an inquirer in New York, word has been received that the description does not answer to the person for whom they are in search.

—A resident of Jamestown while helping to hook the drop chains onto the ferry boat yesterday lost his balance and fell overboard. The boat was backed out of the dock and the man was fished up, very wet, a good deal hurt, but not seriously injured.

—Rhode Island Lodge I. O. of O. F. are in receipt of a communication from their brethren at Memphis thanking them for their pecuniary aid but stating that they had received funds sufficient for their necessities and desired no farther aid at present.

—Messrs Carry Brothers have brought an action against Mr. George Bowen, for damages for enjoining them from the erection of their building, laying the damages at $10,000. George Brown of Providence, and Francis B. Peckham of this city, have been secured as counsel by Carry Brothers.

—Mr. Thomas Maguire, New England reporter of the New York Herald, is in town working up the great scandal case for the delectation of the Herald's readers. This interesting affair, with all its luscious details, will succeed the discussion of the Chief Justiceship in the columns of "the greatest paper in the world."

—The storm yesterday afternoon was very severe, although, as yet, we have heard of no marine disasters. The New York boat arrived at her dock as usual this morning, and it is reported that the weather outside was far less severe than in this quarter. Awnings and the like suffered considerably, and many were obliged to be taken down to prevent their being blown away.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—Michael Fitzgerald has sold a lot of land 31x66 feet on Callender avenue, to John Fitzgerald, for $806.90.

John A. C. Stacy et al. have sold a lot of land 40x75 feet, on a court or way, to Patrick Corcoran, for $300.

Lucius D. Davis et al. have sold a lot of land 50x100 feet, on Weaver street, to Arnold L. Burdick, for $1,000.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR LETTERS.—The carelessness of many people about letters is absolutely amazing, and makes the dead letter office one of the most important institutions in the country. Mr. Coggeshall has showed us some letters picked out of only one day's collection. One had no stamp; another was so illegibly directed that a journeyman printer could not tell where it ought to go; another bore the name of the person to whom it was to go, but neither his post office, state or county; another was stamped but hadn't a word written on it.

MINISTERIAL CONVENTION.—The ministerial convention held at the Thames street Methodist Episcopal church was not largely attended last evening. Rev. Mr. Fernald, who was appointed to preach, did not put in an appearance, neither did the congregation, except in small numbers. In the place of the usual service on such occasions, a prayer meeting was held, in which Rev. Dr. Brown and several other clergymen took part. Other ministers arrived this morning, the weather being more propitious and the services assumed a more interesting character.

WASTED SWEETNESS.—C. G. Handy and son keep in front of their grocery store some shelves on which to display their goods during the daytime. When night, to use the elegant language of the poet, spreads her waterproof over our heads and buttons it with a star, then, when the fruits and groceries are taken in, a tribe of street loafers, who have so much work trying to spend their time that they ought to petition Congress for days of eighteen hours, crawl out of the place they hide in during the day and roost on these handy shelves. This thing has gone on till the shelves are nearly ruined, and the loafers had begun to talk seriously about demanding of the firm a new set of roosts. Wrath filled the bosoms of the Handys and lat. Saturday night or early Sunday morning, we shan't ask the recording angel which, these gentlemen deposited three lines of extra adhesive molasses on each of the shelves whereon the uninvited guests were wont to perch themselves. Sunday night came and with it, as usual, a large number of talented and enterprising young men in the employ of Street, Leggett & Walker. They took their accustomed seats. What thoughts filled their breasts we know not, but a few minutes later a gentleman who passed the place saw twenty-nine young members of the bone and sinew of the country with very queer expressions on their faces all rubbing their hands on their trousers and then sucking their fingers. He said they didn't look proud at all, those young men, but they felt dreadfully stuck up.

JUSTICE COURT.—The complaint against Eliza Thurston for the alleged larceny of a dress belonging to Mrs. William Young who lives in the same house with the former, and of a skirt from Kate Simpson, sister-in-law of Mrs. Young, from the same place, on the twenty-second instant.

Six witnesses were examined on the part of the prosecution, all of whom testified pretty clearly as to the taking of the alleged stolen articles. Mrs. Thurston, who testified in her own behalf, also admitted the taking of the dresses. It seems, however, that between Mrs. Thurston and the family of Mr. Young living as they do on the same premises, there has been trouble from the beginning of the former's residence in the house. And that when she took the articles she did it in the presence, as she testified, of the parties complainant, as well as in that of several of the neighbors who were at open windows in the vicinity, and this testimony was somewhat confirmed by the witnesses for the prosecution. She told the parties, as she said, that she took the goods as a sort of reprisal for things which had been taken from her, and other alleged wrongs and injuries done to her, and that when Mrs. Young charged the respondent with carrying off her dress and enquired what she was going to do with it, Mrs. Thurston alleged the above reasons, and said she, (the complainant,) could only recover them by a writ of replevin, or by a search warrant, and that in either case "there would be a long tail to it."

Mr. Peckham for the defence admitted the taking, but claimed that in view of all the facts in the case, that while there was undoubtedly a wrongful taking there was no felony, and that larceny could not lie under the circumstances.

Mr. Gilpin as solicitor, took, of course an opposite view, and, the Court after hearing both arguments, reserved decision and the case was continued until Friday next, for advisement.

Portsmouth.

A collection taken up at the Christian Church in Portsmouth, on Sunday evening last, at a close of a lecture by the pastor, Rev. George W. Morrill, in behalf of the Memphis sufferers, amounted to twenty dollars, which is quite a liberal contribution for a small church with many needs of their own. It was forwarded by the Western Union Telegraph Company by their special arrangement in such cases provided.

A Boston Quartette Company from Boston will give a concert at the above named church on the evening of Wednesday the fourth proximo, in aid of the Sunday school connected with the church. It is a pleasant drive from town at this time, and it is to be hoped that the concert will be remunerative-ly patronized in behalf of so very deserving an interest, and so useful a church.

STATE MISCELLANY.

The A. & W. Sprague Manufacturing Company of Natick have given notice to their help that on and after Monday, the 27th inst., their mills will run as follows: The first four days, seven hours and three-quarters per day, and on Friday, three hours and a half, and stop on Saturdays.

Joseph A. Cooke, of Newport, Vt., has been arrested for wholesale thieving from the freight houses of the various railroad companies in Providence. He came two or three weeks ago from Vermont, with his wife and three children, to visit his father-in-law, living about four miles from Providence, and since then he has busied himself diligently in his unlawful occupation. His plan of operations was to hire a horse and wagon, drive up to the freight-houses and help himself to tubs of butter and lard, barrels of sugar and apples, chests of tea, packages of saleratus and spices and similar articles, getting altogether nearly $1000 worth. Detectives were put upon his track, and he was finally arrested. He confessed everything, and on Saturday morning he was examined in the justice's court and bound over in the sum of $500 on each of two complaints for trial at a higher court, and sentenced to thirty days in jail on another.

Fall River.

The assessors of Fall River report the population of that city on the first of May to have been 38,461, an increase of 1,529 in the year. The valuation is $47,446,216, an increase of nearly ten millions. The rate of taxation is $13 on $1,000. The number of dwelling houses has increased 309, being now reported at 3,049.

The Fall River News says:

An adjourned meeting of the directors and treasurers of most of our cotton mills, was held at the Board of Trade rooms, last evening, when the question of a reduction of the hours of labor was further discussed. It was finally voted to refer the matter to the directors of the several corporations, recommending each to send a representative, with power to act, to a meeting to be held at the rooms, on Wednesday evening next. The committee appointed at the previous meeting to correspond with the agents of mills in other places, reported that answers had been received from a number of mills that those which had contracts would continue to run full time, and that those which had no contracts would generally go on reduced time. The Manchester Print Works shortens its production 2,000 pieces per week—one fifth. The Merrimac Print Works will continue to run full time for the present. The general expression of the meeting, last evening, appeared to be in favor of a reduction of the hours of labor.

St. Nicholas for November.

The first number of St. Nicholas has just been issued. Pictorially, it is one of the most beautiful magazines in the country, being enriched by designs from the pencils of Miss Hallock, Sol Eytinge, Miss Ledyard, Sheppard, Stephens, Bolles, Beard, and others.

The reading matter is varied and bright. There are thirty-three articles, some for the very little ones, some for the oldest of young people, and some for every age between. We find in its broad, well-printed pages, poems by William Cullen Bryant, Celia Thaxter, Lucy Larcom, and others. There is a capital human-fairy sketch by Rebecca Harding Davis.

Donald G. Mitchell contributes a characteristic article, entitled "Who Wrote the Arabian Nights?" and the first chapters of a serial story by Frank R. Stockton are given. A salutatory by the editor, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, is sure to reach the heart of every child reader and the hearts of their fathers and mothers as well. Among the stories we find a charming description of a fairy's visit to a bee-hive, Annie Moore an exceedingly funny little story by Margaret Eytinge, and lively tales by Paul Fort and J. S. Stacy. Lucretia P. Hale tells the adventures of a doll, Noah Brooks has a capital article for boys, called "By the Sea," and Olive Thorne talks about a certain "Old fashioned Hat."

There are also interesting descriptions of zebras, passenger pigeons, the curious inhabitants of the Farallone islands, and the Piute Indians, besides bright little tales and a whole page in large type for little children with big eyes. We must not forget to mention as an admirable feature a short story in German for the benefit of young people who are learning that language. A similar French story is announced for the next number. Then "Jack in the Pulpit," a curious fellow who is full of little bits of wit and wisdom, holds forth most entertainingly and there are capital notices of juvenile books and a puzzle department that will certainly sharpen the wits of the youngsters.

Buffalo has many remembrances of Mark Twain, and of his remarkable attempt at publishing a newspaper on an entirely new plan. After his return from the Holy Land (per Quaker city), Mark took a wife and purchased the third interest in the Buffalo Express, owned by A. M. Clapp, public printer. They say that Mark's style of newspaper work was unique. He is not an early riser, and is as slow of movement as of speech, consequently he didn't get to the office very early in the morning. And when there his movements were not characterized by nervous haste. Seating himself in a capacious pivot-chair, his first move was to deposit his boots in the waste basket, and replace them with roomy slippers. Then elevating his slippered feet to a comfortable cushion on the [illegible] (their only legitimate [illegible]) it was his wont to lay back in his chair, swinging himself lazily on his pivot, and tell stories of wit and wisdom by the hour to the associate editors. This was vastly pleasant to all concerned, but somehow it did not work in the way of making a newsy paper, and at the end of six weeks Mark came to the conclusion that publishing a newspaper was not his forte. He, however, retained his interest in the Express for about a year and a half, though, as aforesaid he did not take part in the "active" management for more than six months.

M. B., in writing to the Missouri Republican of the recent Woman's Convention in this city says: Lucy Stone was interrupted by the entrance of one hundred and fifty girls, the parasol makers of New York. Their leader, a modest looking young woman with a hectic flush on her wan face asked permission (through a gentleman) to state her case. Now here was a splendid chance for a stunning effect. Had Mrs. Stone called that woman upon the platform, saying the sufferings of woman and the suffrage of woman were the same thing spelled differently, taken this working girl by the hand and insisted that her story should be heard first as the greatest argument the chair had to offer, she would have made a ten strike. But no, Mrs. Lucy proceeded with her discourse, began her collection, and paid no more attention to the suffering umbrella makers than to so many flies. It was left for Mr. Higginson to accord Miss Leonard, the umbrella orator, the privilege of speaking. The poor young human was tumultuously received, and spoke briefly and simply, and to the purpose. She, with charming naïveté said she did not sympathize with the object of the gathered convention, as she believed the ballot was in the hands of the strongest and best able to take care of it; that she had been unable to cultivate her mind for speech making on account of working eighteen hours a day for bread; but she wished to arouse some interest for the unhappiest class of creatures on the continent —the working women of New York. With a few facts concerning their wretched state she retired, and not a soul connected with the great subject of female emancipation uttered the ghost of an opinion or endorsement; but the next speaker pranced up to the front and begged to rectify a mistake. Some one had given her out as an Illinois woman. She was a no such thing, and here followed some interesting facts concerning her nativity.

According to a rural exchange, Farmer Crown was not well educated; indeed, he was guiltless of a knowledge of reading and writing, and his system of etiquette belonged to the barbaric ages. His daughter Jane was quite the reverse of her father in all these respects, and at the time we write of was entertaining at dinner a large party of the neighboring farmers and their wives, at her father's house, on the occasion of her return from the boarding-school. It may be inferred that her father's intelligence and behavior were a source of perpetual solicitude to Jane, and previous to the party she instructed her father that when speaking of anything he should add, for fear of offending any one, "the present company excepted." He was half an hour late for dinner, and, tired of waiting, Jane invited the guests to begin operations. They had not long begun ere Mr. Brown rushed abruptly into the room, in a stream of perspiration. "Why, dear papa," said Jane, "what kept you so late?" "The fact is, Jane," replied he, "I've been visiting' neebor Smith's pigs, and they're the finest lot of hogs I ever seed, the present company alus excepted."

Undeveloped Vigor.

The feeble and debilitated usually fancy they are in a more hopeless condition than they really are. The resources of nature are not easily exhausted. Even when strength and appetite fail, when the eyes are heavy and lustreless, the complexion pallid, the nerves tremulous, the body attenuated, and the mind depressed, there is generally a reserve of latent power behind such palpable evidences of weakness. Various modes of treatment are resorted to by physicians in the hope of developing and rendering available this store of sleeping vitality, but the surest, and indeed the only thoroughly safe and reliable means of awakening the dormant energies of the system, is a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Electricity, shower baths, the flesh brush, sea bathing, &c.; may be well enough in their way, as auxiliaries, but they do not reach the source of the evil. All physical debility proceeds either from a derangement of the functions of the assimilating, secretive and vital organs, or from a sluggish constitution. In either case, and also in cases where both causes exist, the Bitters will invariably produce an immediate and salutary change in the condition of the patient, and eventually effect a complete cure. None of the dangerous alkaloids, too often administered as tonics, can be otherwise than deleterious under such circumstances, and to give mercury is positively criminal. The direct effect of the great vegetable specific will be manifested in an improved appetite, a more cheerful frame of mind, a gradual return of strength, an increase of flesh, and a healthier complexion. Meanwhile, however, the constitution, if inert and feeble, will have been roused and renovated by the subtle elements of restoration contained in the Bitters.

PIMPLES AND HUMORS ON THE FACE.—In this condition of the skin the VEGETINE is the great remedy, as it acts directly upon the cause. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors of all kinds to disappear.

The Most Popular Medicine Extant.

1840. Over 30 Years. 1873.

SINCE THE INTRODUCTION OF

PERRY DAVIS'

PAIN-KILLER.

And after thirty years' trial, the "PAIN-KILLER" may justly be styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained such unbounded popularity. As an external and internal medicine, the Pain Killer stands unrivalled.

Thirty Years are certainly a long enough time to prove the efficiency of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparallelled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested, all over the world, and it needs only to be known to be prized. Be sure you buy none but the genuine, manufactured by PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I. ☞Sold by all Druggists. oct4

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1873.

GENERAL NEWS.

New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. The trial of Tainter, the defaulting cashier of the Atlantic National Bank, commenced today, and will probably occupy some days.

THE STOKES CASE.

At half-past ten Mr. Tremaine commenced his address on behalf of the prisoner. His manner was very [illegible]. He commenced with great solemnity. Gradually he grew warmer. At times he thundered out in passionate tones, and sometimes his voice was broken as if he were about to give way to sobbing. At the outset he commented on the attempt made by the representative of the Attorney General to prejudice the prisoner by remarks on the omission of medical testimony at the last trial. He briefly sketched the two former trials and highly eulogized the Court of Appeals and the notable Judge Glover, whose opinions were influential in reversing the last verdict.

Counsel having commented on the manner of the District Attorney in examining witnesses, and the want of [illegible] in stating the exact cause of death in the indictment, said:—I shall now proceed to consider the question before you under four separate heads:

First—Did the prisoner inflict a mortal wound with a pistol which he held in his hand, and of which deceased died?

Second—If he died was it an act of murder, or could it be merely manslaughter in one of the lesser degrees, and in considering this I shall leave out of view the question as to whether Fisk had a pistol or not, and shall ask you to consider it in the light of other evidence and wholly irrespective of the next two points.

Third—If the prisoner killed Fisk, was the killing a justifiable homicide, and Fourth—If he killed James Fisk, and the killing was not justifiable homicide, was the prisoner sane or insane, within the meaning of the law?

Mr. Tremaine argued that Fisk could not have died of the shock within 19 hours after exhibiting such intelligence for many hours after the wound was inflicted. The counsel went on to argue that a healthy reaction had set in, the patient was intelligent, cheerful and even facetious. There was a chance of his recovery; he was as strong as an ox. In his own words, he might die of inflammation; but did he die of the shock or the drug, or of the stupor it produced? He made his will, and the will indicates that it was by instructions.—He asked, could the jury say that Fisk died of a shock as the indictment alleges? When medical men highest in the profession found stertorous breathing, which indicated narcotic poisoning and the absence of a shock.

Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—From figures in the customs bureau it is ascertained that the collections of custom duties during the fiscal year ended July 30, 1873, amounted to $188,089,822, as against $216,370,286 for the year before, a falling off of $28,280,764. The decrease since July 1, 1873, as compared with the previous year is over $7,000,000. The last tariff act, in which tea and coffee were placed upon the free list, is the cause of the great reduction, and Secretary Richardson thinks it is a favorable sign.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

The Attorney-General has made a formal demand upon Henry D. Cooke for about thirty three thousand dollars, being the funds of the reform school of this district which Mr. Cooke held as treasurer and which were lost in the First National Bank. Unless the money is returned it is the intention of the department to enter a personal suit as against a government officer since the trustees of the institution are appointed and commissioned by the President, and the Treasurer is designated by them subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior and is a bond officer.

THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

Senator Conklin, while here, denied that he has said to Senator Cameron that he should not accept an appointment as Chief Justice even if it were offered to him, and that as a matter of fact he had not conversed in regard to that office since the death of Mr. Chase. The first report, however, came from Senator Cameron.

FINANCIAL.

The controller of the currency has received letters from officers of several of the most prominent western banks taking strong ground against the policy of paying interest on deposits.

The receipts of internal revenue today were very nearly up to the average for Mondays before the panics.

THE INDIANS.

The Ute delegation of Indians today consented reluctantly to go on the Los Pinos reservation in Colorado.

SILVER.

The Secretary of the Treasury will issue an order to commence payments of silver at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and other leading cities where there are assistant treasurers or designated depositories, tomorrow. In no case will more than five dollars in silver be paid to one person, the balance of a check being paid in greenbacks.

Secretary Richardson hopes to keep up the payments of silver, which will be begun tomorrow, expressing the opinion that he will be able to do so unless a run upon the Treasury is made and silver taken out for the purpose of being hoarded. There is at present about half a million dollars in silver coin, in possession of the government, which it is thought will last some weeks, but the coining will still be continued, though not more rapidly than heretofore. There is an abundance of silver bars in the country, and the capacity of the mints is sufficient for the coinage of about $15,000,000 per annum in silver without interfering with other coinage.

Miscellaneous.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Archbishop Welchers, of Cologne, has been sentenced in contumaciam to pay a fine of 200 thalers or be imprisoned for a term of two months for each of six cases of infraction of law.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE MORNING STAR.]

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 27.—Today noon, a large eighteen tenement block on North Main street, near Border City Mill, Mechanicsville, was blown down by the gale. Peter Mcehaily, seventeen years of age, was buried in the ruins and crushed to death. One Canadian Frenchman escaped by springing from a second story window, and another went down with the building but miraculously escaped with a few severe cuts. The building was four stories in height, and only partly finished. It was owned by Michael S. Barnes. J. C. Bray was the builder. The loss is $7,000.

The Crescent Mill adopted the short hour system today.

LONDON, Oct. 27. The £[illegible] withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance today will be shipped to America.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Fresh delegates have gone to Count De Chambord with a view of obtaining from him more concise concessions than those yet given. De Falloux has been appointed to revise Chambord's manifesto, before it is finally presented to the nation.

LONDON, Oct. 27. A general movement for increase of wages is on foot among the Scottish miners. The Lancashire colliers have inaugurated a general strike for higher wages, following on the rise in the price of coal.

BOSTON, Oct. 27. This evening's papers report more stoppages among manufacturing industrial establishments, and also quite a number of boot and shoe failures.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 27. From noon on Saturday to noon on Sunday there were 26 deaths from yellow fever, and from noon on Sunday to noon today there were 13 deaths from yellow fever, showing a decrease of 13 deaths in yellow fever. Ice formed in many places this morning, and the prospect is more hopeful. A few absentees are returning to the city. No new cases were reported at the Howard superintendence today, and they are discharging nurses.

Women in Politics.

A London correspondent inclines to the opinion that there is every probability that female electioneering will be a main feature in the elections of the next Parliament, and that Englishmen may revert to the days when the Lady Georgina, Duchess of Devonshire, controlled all Westminster in the interest of Sir Francis Burdett, first uttering her argument with the rosiest lips, and then applying the same in such a way as to make the argument convincing. There would seem to be little doubt that the recent elections both at Dover and Bath were determined far more by the wives of the candidates than by the candidates themselves.

Mrs. Barnett, the Tory lady, having succeeded in returning her husband in the hitherto Liberal borough of Dover, seems to have taught Mrs. Hayter her art of war. At Bath this lady threw herself with enthusiasm into the canvass, and though at a later period the Conservative lady, Mrs. Forsyth, did the same, she either came too late on the field or was not so fascinating as her liberal antagonist. On the day of the election both ladies appeared in gay equipages, decked in symbolic colors, and drove through the streets, stopping at the shops of tradesmen, and sometimes driving the dustiest artisan in their fine carriages to the polls.

Watson—Franklin.

On Wednesday, the eighth instant, was solemnized, at the Church of the Incarnation, Madison Avenue, the marriage of Joseph Watson, son of the late Dr. Daniel Watson, of Newport, R. I., and Mrs. Mary A. Franklin, nee Windle, of New York. There was no display, nor were any cards or written invitations issued. Among the few present were D. W. Argyle Watson, Mr. James B. Windle, Mrs. Dr. Fred. Sturgis, Mrs. Cameron Stone, Mr. H. Foster, and the family of the late Judge Clawson of Staten Island. The service was read by Rev. Dr. Montgomery. The light shone upon the bridal party through a memorial window, which adorns the church, in honor of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William B. Windle. The newly-married couple proceeded at once to Philadelphia, and are now enjoying the autumnal beauties of the Alleghany.—[Home Journal.

This press would work off 15,000 perfected copies per hour of any of our large daily papers, if printed single width, and 30,000 printed double width. This is accomplished without any strain of the machinery, the mechanical movements being of the most simple and ingenious character. The delivery of the sheet is a marvel of mechanical simplicity and success. Great care has been taken in all the movements to insure good printing at this high rate of speed. Our English friends, who have watched its progress from the start with great interest, pronounce the new press a marvelous achievement of mechanical design and workmanship. The proprietors of the London Standard have ordered six of these machines for that newspaper, to be delivered as soon as they can be made, and others of the London and Scotch newspaper proprietors are also in treaty for them.

MAGEE'S NEW

STANDARD PLATE IRON

FURNACE.

One feature of interest in this furnace is that the FIRE POT is enclosed in a STEAM BOILER BODY, leaving no joints to admit of the escape of gas or dust, [illegible] whose lives are in jeopardy from gassy furnaces; and being made of heavy wrought iron, is impervious to carbonic acid. This renders the air heated by it entirely free from all injurious properties.

I confidently offer it, therefore, as the

BEST IN THE MARKET,

GRAPES AS FOOD. Men can live and work on grapes and bread. The peasantry of France, Spain and Italy make many a satisfying meal in this way, and of the wholesomeness of the diet there can be no doubt. Medical men constantly recommend the use of grapes for their patients. Scarcely any plant can equal the vine as regards the beauty of its leaves and fruit. As a covering for bare walls and for affording shelter and shade it is a climber of the first rank. To sit under one's own vine has in all ages been considered the acme of rural happiness—an emblem of peace, a symbol of plenty and a picture of contentment. That pleasure, though perhaps not in all its fullness, may become the heritage of thousands in these temperate climes. Neither our latitude, longitude, nor leaden skies nor erratic climate, writes an Englishman, forbid the growth of the grape vine throughout the larger portion of the Kingdom. In many districts its fruits will ripen more or less perfectly.

In almost all it would ripen sufficiently to be useful for eating or wine making. Even green grapes are useful for conversion into vinegar, for making tarts or wine. Ripe grapes are universally esteemed. No one tires of them. If any declined to eat their own grapes, or grew more than were needed for home consumption, there is a ready market in most neighborhoods for grapes at from four pence to a shilling a pound, according to quality. Thus cottagers might make or save the rent many times over. I know many cottage gardens in which the vine or vines are not only their chief ornaments, but the main source of profit. These might be multiplied up and down the country to infinity.

As a means of increasing their number, I would suggest that prizes be offered by all cottage garden societies for the best trained and most fruitful grape vines on cottages. I have known this done to such excellent effect that the vines became models of both; and such a spirit of emulation was stirred up that one laborer had paid another two days of his wages to do up his vine for him. There need be no fear of an excessive supply, neither are ripe grapes so perishable as most fruits. Cut with a piece of wood attached, and placed in bottles of water, or even suspended in a dry room, the ripe fruit will keep good for months, and even improve by keeping.

MILK AND WATER.—Typhoid fever is said to have been produced by milk. It has also been ascribed to impure water. May it not have arisen from a combination of those causes? The water companies replenish the "cow with the iron tail."—Punch.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE undersigned represents the following First Class Fire Insurance Companies, and is prepared to issue policies on all classes of risks at current rates. Dwelling houses and their contents insured for one, three, or five years, on the most favorable terms. Written permission given to SUMMER RESIDENTS to leave their buildings unoccupied a portion of the year, without extra charge.

Ætna Ins. Co. of Hartford, Assets,	- - - -	$5,396,380
Ins. Co. of North America, Philadelphia, Assets	-	3,276,739
Hartford, of Hartford, Assets,	- - - - -	2,204,396
Royal, of England,	- -	10,000,000
Orient, of Hartford,	- -	705,520

These companies were among the HEAVIEST LOSERS at the Chicago and Boston fires, every dollar of which was promptly paid. It costs no more to insure in them than it does in the small fry and weak concerns that are sure to go DOWN in time of trial the only time, in fact, when an Insurance Company is of any service.

If desired, property in OTHER TOWNS AND CITIES will be taken, and be covered in these and other reliable companies. L. D. DAVIS,

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN SYRUP
AN IRON TONIC

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG,

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing* Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, *and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has* PERUVIAN SYRUP *blown in the glass.
